District Court Rules Against Company for Failure to Provide Life Insurance Conversion Information

On April 13, 2017, the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania (the Court) ruled in favor of the plaintiff in Erwood v. WellStar Health Sys, Inc., 2017 WL 1383922 (W.D. Pa 2017). In this case, the widow of a WellStar employee (Erwood) sued WellStar because they had failed to provide a notice of Erwood's right to convert his life insurance upon termination. As background, Erwood discovered that he had terminal brain cancer in 2012. WellStar offered 36 weeks of FMLA coverage during which Erwood and his wife communicated with WellStar HR employees multiple times, and even had a meeting to discuss how they could keep all their benefits in place should Erwood be terminated. DOL Provides Fiduciary Rule Guidance Ahead of Effective Date

The DOL's Conflict of Interest/Fiduciary Rule (the Rule) is set to become effective on June 9, 2017. The Best Interest Contract (BIC) Exemption and other related prohibited transaction exemptions will also become effective that day. However, as discussed in previous editions of Compliance Corner, the DOL has established a temporary enforcement policy due to Pres. Trump's request for additional analysis of the the rule and its impact on American investors. To provide additional information on the implementation of the Rule, the DOL recently provided a Field Assistance Bulletin (FAB) and a set of FAQs. Continue reading »

IRS Releases Issue Snapshot Regarding Identification of HCEs in Short or Initial Plan Years

On April 21, 2017, the IRS posted an Issue Snapshot containing a summary of the rules for identifying highly compensated employees (HCEs) for retirement plan purposes in a plan's initial plan year or in the case of a short plan year. The summary confirms that there are two tests for determining if an employee is a HCE: an ownership test and a compensation test. If the employee satisfies either of the two tests, then they will be an HCE. The summary contains eight examples that apply to the two tests under various scenarios.
